

CTH 411 Christian Theology II

Purpose: The purpose of this course is to help students develop an understanding of the nature and scope of theology, the doctrine of revelation, the nature and work of God, the nature of humanity, and human sinfulness.

Recommended textbook: The recommended textbook for this course is Introducing Christian Doctrine, 3rd Edition. The author is Millard J. Erickson. Hardcover, 512 pages. ©2015, Baker Publishing Group. ISBN-13: 9780801049194.

Learning Outcomes: By the end of this study, students should be able to demonstrate an understanding of:

1. Doctrines related to the person and the work of Christ
2. The nature and role of the Holy Spirit
3. The various understandings of the nature of the atonement and salvation
4. The nature of the Church and sacraments
5. Eschatology and various views of the second coming of Christ

Structure: This course is divided into three sections. Each section has several Areas of Study which correspond to the chapters of the recommended textbook

CHT 411.1 The Person and Work of Christ

First Area of Study: The Deity of Christ

Second Area of Study: The Humanity of Christ

Third Area of Study: The Unity of the Person of Christ

Fourth Area of Study: Introduction to the Work of Christ

Fifth Area of Study: The Central Theme of Atonement

CHT 411.2 The Holy Spirit and Salvation

First Area of Study: The Person of the Holy Spirit

Second Area of Study: The Work of the Holy Spirit

Third Area of Study: Recent Issues Regarding the Holy Spirit

Fourth Area of Study: Conceptions of Salvation

Fifth Area of Study: The Antecedent to Salvation: Predestination

Sixth Area of Study: The Beginning of Salvation: Subjective Aspects

Seventh Area of Study: The Beginning of Salvation: Objective Aspects

Eighth Area of Study: The Continuation and Completion of Salvation

CHT 411.3 Church, Sacraments, and Last Things

First Area of Study: The Nature of the Church

Second Area of Study: The Role and Government of the Church

Third Area of Study: The Ordinances of the Church

Fourth Area of Study: Introductory Matters and Individual Eschatology

Fifth Area of Study: The Second Coming And its Consequents

Sixth Area of Study: Millennial and Tribulational Views

Seventh Area of Study: Final States

Academic Credit: Academic credit is earned for this course by passing the Christian Theology II Examination. The exam has three parts which correspond to the sections listed above